DECISION

Dear Mr. Osman:

On December 20, 2001, you filed an application for adjustment of status (I-485) with the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service. This application will be denied.

Section 245 of the Immigration and Nationality Act provides in pertinent part

(a) The status of an alien who was inspected and admitted or paroled into the United States may be adjusted by the Attorney General, in his discretion and under such regulations as he may prescribe, to that of an alien lawfully admitted for permanent residence if (1) the alien makes an application for such adjustment; (2) the alien is eligible to receive an immigrant visa and is admissible to the United States for permanent residence; and (3) an immigrant visa is immediately available to him at the time his application is filed.

Section 201 of the Immigration and Nationality Act enumerates those aliens eligible to be issued immigrant visas or who may otherwise acquire the status of an alien lawfully admitted to the United States for permanent residence. The visa petition supporting the application for permanent residence has been denied. In the absence of any other indication that the applicant is entitled to any status as outlined in Section 201(a) and 201(b) of the Act, the applicant must be considered ineligible for the benefits of Section 245 of the Immigration and Nationality Act, as amended. Accordingly, this application must be and hereby is denied.

This decision may not be appealed. If you believe the law was inappropriately applied or the analysis used in reaching the decision was inconsistent with the information provided or with precedent decisions, you may file a motion to reconsider. If you have new or additional information that you wish to have considered, you may file a motion to reopen.

Section 103.5 of the Code of Federal Regulations states, in pertinent part

(1) When filed by affected party.

(i) General. ... Any motion to reconsider an action by the Service filed by

DATE OF INTERVIEW: March 26, 2007
DATE OF REPORT: March 27, 2007

I, Stephen Reich, Ph.D., hereby swear and affirm the following:

1. I am a licensed psychologist in private practice in the State of New York. My New York State license number is: 004511.

2. I earned the following academic degrees:

B.A.
J.D.
M.B.A.
M.A. in Psychology
Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology
Columbia College
Columbia University Law School
Columbia University Graduate School of Business
Fordham University
Fordham University

3. I was a United States Public Health Fellow at Fordham University.

4. I was a Postdoctoral Clinical Psychology Fellow at The New York Hospital-Cornell University Medical Center (Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic).

5. Since 1972, I have been a faculty member of the Department of Psychiatry (Division of Psychology) of Weill Medical College of Cornell University, and an Assistant Attending Psychologist at New York Presbyterian Hospital (Payne Whitney Psychiatric Clinic.)

6. I am a member of the American College of Forensic Psychology, the American Psychological Association, the New York State Psychological Association, and the National Register of Health Services Providers.

7. From 1965-1968, I was an Assistant Attorney General of the State of New York.

8. From 1965-1972, I was a Lieutenant, Judge Advocate General Corps, of the United States Naval Reserve.

9. On March 26, 2007, I interviewed Ms. Jeanne Osman and her son, Youssef Osman for a psychological evaluation and report. They were accompanied at the interview by Mr. Khalid Osman, the husband of Jeanne Osman, and the father of Youssef Osman. The family was referred by their attorney, Rahul Manchanda, Esq.

10. The following is based upon my interviews.

11. Interview of Jeanne Osman:

Jeanne Osman was born on May 12, 1972, in Brooklyn, New York, and is a citizen of the United States. She was the second of four children born to her mother and father, and also has a half sister. She is a woman who is presently of average weight and height, who looks her chronological age. However, in order to reach normal weight, she had to undergo gastric-bypass surgery, and thus lost 104 pounds. She was oriented to time, place and person, and her facial expressions, gestures and body language reflected her account. Her intelligence is above average, and there was no evidence of any cognitive deficits. She is an executive secretary, and attended college for approximately 1-1/2 years. During the interview, she was obviously exhibiting depressive and anxiety-based symptomatology. She broke down and wept on several occasions, as she told me of her fear that her husband, Khalid, might have to leave the United States, at some point, and return to Egypt. Since she is unable to leave the United States, for reasons which will be detailed below, she realizes that her husband's departure would simply shatter her family. She was cooperative, straightforward and honest.

Jeanne Osman's mother died of ovarian and bone cancer approximately two years ago. Jeanne is now fully responsible for the care of her retired father, who lives with her in Staten Island. Her father has severe emphysema and is on oxygen 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, has diabetes, for which he is medicated, has had triple bypass cardiac surgery, and also has serious kidney malfunction, which may ultimately necessitate kidney dialysis. Simply put, her father is a seriously ill person.

In addition to the gastric bypass surgery, which Jeanne Osman underwent, to deal with her morbid obesity, she also has polycystic ovarian syndrome and endometriosis. It took her a very long time to conceive Youssef, and she fully expects that it will be just as difficult, if not more so, because she is now older, to conceive again. She met Khalid Osman in 2001, and married him on November 21, 2001. She said that both of them fell deeply in love very quickly, and that the marriage has been extremely successful, filled with warmth, excellent communication and shared values. It is the first marriage for both of them. As a result of her fear that her husband might have to leave the United States at some point, Jeanne Osman has become depressed and anxious. She said that she has difficulty falling asleep, and wakes up, repeatedly during the night. She said she sleeps only four hours a night. As a result of her anxiety and depression, she has begun to overeat again to mask her depressive symptomatology, and has thus regained 10-15 pounds. Given her prior morbid obesity, this is an ominous sign. She has trouble focusing, concentrating and paying attention, is persistently sad, and chronically anxious. She has frequent crying spells. As is common

Yousef Osman

Yousef Osman was born in the United States on August 9, 2003, and is a citizen of the United States. He is now 3½ years old and has begun preschool. Yousef Osman is clearly a young boy with tremendous promise. His functioning at age 3½ is everything parents could possibly hope for in a child. He is bright, alert, curious, spontaneous, highly interactive and speaks beautifully. He relates well with both parents, each of whom obviously showers him with nurturance and love. His teachers in preschool have given his Jeanne Osman told me that her responsibilities to her father would preclude her from going to Egypt, but also told me that she would be very afraid to live in Egypt, and take her son to that country, because she feels that at the present time in history, it is simply too dangerous for United States citizens to live in an Arab country, and would not want to expose herself and her son to those risks. Mrs. Osman informed me that she has called a psychologist to whom she was referred in order to begin psychotherapy for her depression and anxiety.

- 1) Depressed mood most of the day, nearly every day.
- 2) Markedly diminished interest or pleasure in all or almost all activities of most of the day, nearly every day.

(A) The following symptoms have been present during the same two-month period and represent a change from previous functioning

Jeanne Osman meets the following criteria for Major Depressive Disorder

Major Depressive Disorder - DSM-IV 296.2x, Diagnostic and Statistical Manual of Mental Disorders, Fourth Edition, the American Psychiatric Association.

Major Depressive Disorder - (DSM-IV 296.2x)DIAGNOSIS OF JEANNE OSMAN parents feedback which was the same as the feedback I gave them about his functioning. They have told Jeanne and Khalid that he is performing as well as a child can possibly perform in preschool.

In his research with children, John Bowlby, M.D. clearly demonstrated that children separated from a parent for a significant period, are at high risk for the development of separation anxiety disorders, depressive symptomatology, and symptoms of isolation. Dr. Bowlby was one of the leading clinicians in the area of separation anxiety disorders and attachment. Two of his major books about these issues are 1) A Secure Base: Parent-Child Attachment and Healthy Human Development, Basic Books, New York, 1988; 2) Maternal Care and Mental Health, Schocken Books, New York, 1966. Youssef Osman would develop the following characteristics of a Separation Anxiety Disorder if he were separated from his father.

1. Recurrent excessive distress when separation from home or major attachment figures occurs or is anticipated.
2. Persistent and excessive worry about losing major attachment figures.
3. Persistent and excessive worry that an untoward event will lead to separation from a major attachment figure.
4. Persistent reluctance or refusal to go to school or elsewhere because of fear of separation.
5. Persistently or excessively fearful or reluctant to be alone or without major attachment figures at home.
6. Persistent reluctance or refusal to go to sleep without being near a major attachment figure or to sleep away from home.
7. Repeated complaints of physical symptoms (headaches, stomachaches, nausea, vomiting, etc.), when separation from major attachment figures occurs or is anticipated.

The psychologist Erik Erickson has written that the first phase of a child's development is characterized by the development of "basic trust vs. basic mistrust." If Youssef Osman becomes separated from his father, he will develop a "basic mistrust" of the world, in addition to the Separation Anxiety Disorder.

Beyond a shadow of a doubt, if Youssef Osman becomes separated from his father, Khalid Osman, he will develop a Separation Anxiety Disorder and depressive symptomatology. In interest if he could remain in the United States.

It is my opinion that it would represent an extreme hardship to Jeanne Osman and Youssef Osman in the event that Khalid Osman returned to Egypt. It would clearly be in their best functioning as well as any child his age can possibly function. If he becomes separated from his father, he will develop a Separation Anxiety Disorder and depressive symptomatology. Youssef Osman is a gifted, spontaneous, highly interactive 3 1/2-year-old boy, who is citizens living in Egypt, she will be putting herself and her son at risk.

Mrs. Osman is completely responsible for the care of her father, who lives with her, after the death of her mother. Her father is on oxygen 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, as a result of severe emphysema. He also has cardiac problems, diabetes and kidney infections. Jeanne Osman said she will not go to Egypt, in the event that her husband has to return to that country, because of her responsibilities to her father, and her fear that as United States citizens living in Egypt, she will be putting herself and her son at risk.

It is my professional opinion as a psychologist that Mrs. Jeanne Osman has developed a Major Depressive Disorder as a direct result of her fear that her husband, Mr. Khalid Osman, may have to return to Egypt, at some point. Her symptoms include sleep disturbance, overeating to mask depressive symptomatology, weight gain, difficulty focusing and concentrating, persistent sadness, chronic anxiety, crying spells, loss of sexual libido, and suicidal ideation. She has not made any suicide gestures.

SUMMARY

Khalid Osman was born on October 1, 1968, in Egypt, and is a citizen of Egypt. He earned a law degree in Egypt, and is presently a partner in a construction business in the United States, where he employs several men to work on construction sites. He is intelligent, communicates well, and has an excellent relationship with both his wife and son.

Such symptoms will rob Youssef of his greatest assets - his spontaneity, verve and enthusiasm to learn.
